WAR CURSE

WHO IS WAR CURSE?

Forged in tradition and unconcerned with industry trends, War Curse walks a path blazed by thrash metal titans of yesteryear while creating a distinct imprint of their own. High energy shows across the map garnered War Curse the reputation of being a must see live act, captivating fans young and old with their thoughtfully written, no holds barred brand of metal. The band's true to roots Bay Area sound has resonated with crowds and media alike, giving War Curse the ability to transcend genre lines and appeal to everyone from diehards to casuals. Simply put, War Curse is a sleeping giant ready to emerge as the next torchbearer.

WHERE HAVE THEY BEEN?

War Curse was formed in 2013 by guitarists Justin Roth and Joshua Murphy. In 2015 the band released their debut E.P. Final Days and began touring in support of the album, sharing the stage with the who's who of metal across the US. Countless miles and a couple of years later War Curse would find themselves back in the studio with a new and improved line up recording what would become the band's debut full length album, Eradication, released worldwide on Svart Records May 2019.

WARCURSE

WHAT ARE THEY SAYING?

"This is thrash of the highest order and pisses all over the majority of albums that dare to call themselves modern thrash."

9/10 - Worship Metal

"I am exhausted from the collective ass kicking that 'Eradication' has just laid on me. This may be the best thrash album I have heard in years, and I want more already."

10/10 - In The Pit radio

"My only regret is not discovering the band sooner"
